Course Description

This course is an introduction to the interdisciplinary field of global development studies. It will critically examine development discourses, issues, actors and approaches for addressing global social and economic inequality.

Learning Objectives

The aim of the course is to provide a foundation for critical thinking about global development. This course will enable students to:

- Recognize and critically assess diverse meanings of development, underdevelopment, poverty and inequality
- Be familiar with key issues, actors and institutions in the field of global development
- Understand the historical origins of mainstream development theories and discourses, and recognize them as often intertwined with (neo)colonial, capitalist and neoliberal political agendas
- Appreciate the practical and ethical dilemmas encountered by individuals conducting collaborative and cross-cultural development work

In addition, time will be devoted in class to assist in developing students' aptitude for:

- Accessing scholarly materials through the Huron Library System
- Academic research and writing
- Analytical and critical thinking

Required Reading

Readings will be posted to the course site on OWL. Most readings are also easily accessed online or through the Huron library system. Instructions will be given in class on how to search for books and electronic journals.

Course Evaluation and Methods of Assessment

Class Participation	20%, Ongoing
Research Paper Proposal	20%, October 21
Research Paper	30%, December 2
Final Exam	30%, Date TBA

Description of Assignments

For each course assignment detailed instructions and a grading rubric will be provided in class. Where applicable, students are encouraged to use assignments as an opportunity to link their efforts in the course with an area of personal interest.

Class Participation – 20% (Ongoing)

10% Attendance, 10% Group Work Participation

The course format is interactive. This means that each week students will have the opportunity to participate in group work exercises and discussions. To ensure constructive and lively discussion, students are expected to come to class having completed all of the assigned readings and be prepared to discuss their thoughts and questions with the class. Students will be reminded that attendance is not the same as participation, although student attendance will be monitored as part of their overall participation mark.

Research Paper Proposal and Annotated Bibliography – 20% (4 pages, Due October 21)

Students will submit a proposal for a research paper on a topic of their choosing. This involves the following:

- A topic description and justification (1 page)
- A thesis statement and preview of their argument, including any examples they might draw on (1 page)
- A critical annotated bibliography of three preliminary sources to be incorporated into their research paper (2 pages)

Research Paper– 30% (5-6 pages, Due December 2)

Students will submit their research paper in class on the final day of the course. Papers must integrate one course reading and (at least) three additional scholarly sources.

Final Exam – 30% (Scheduled by the University)

The university will schedule the final exam during the exam period. The exam will be cumulative, covering all course material from week one through week twelve (i.e. lectures, readings and films). The exam will comprise two sections- short answer questions and an essay- focusing on the synthesis and application of course concepts and materials.

Extensions on assignments can only be requested in-person, and more than 48 hours prior to the assigned deadline. Extensions being requested for emergency or medical reasons must be approved through academic advising.

Late assignments will only be accepted without penalty if a prior agreement with me has been made, or if academic advising has provided academic accommodation. Students who submit assignments late without making a prior agreement with me, or without academic accommodation will be penalized 5% for every 24-hour period past the assignment deadline.

Assignments not submitted in class must be submitted to the Centre for Global Studies drop box, located outside office A116 in the Administrative Building at Huron University College. Please print my name and “Centre for Global Studies” clearly on the paper or envelope containing your assignment. The drop box is emptied at 3:30pm Monday – Friday. Appendix to Course Outlines

Prerequisite Information

Students are responsible for ensuring that they have successfully completed all course prerequisites. Unless you have either the requisites for this course or written special permission from your Dean to enrol in it, you may be removed from this course and it will be deleted from your record. This decision may not be appealed. You will receive no adjustment to your fees in the event that you are dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites.

Conduct of Students in Classes, Lectures, and Seminars

Membership in the community of Huron University College and the University of Western Ontario implies acceptance by every student of the principle of respect for the rights, responsibilities, dignity and well-being of others and a readiness to support an environment conducive to the intellectual and personal growth of all who study, work and live within it. Upon registration, students assume the responsibilities that such registration entails. The academic and social privileges granted to each student are conditional upon the fulfillment of these responsibilities. In the classroom, students are expected to behave in a manner that supports the learning environment of others. Students can avoid any unnecessary disruption of the class by arriving in sufficient time to be seated and ready for the start of the class, by remaining silent while the professor is speaking or another student has the floor, and by taking care of personal needs prior to the start of class. If a student is late, or knows that he/she will have to leave class early, be courteous: sit in an aisle seat and enter and leave quietly.

Please see the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities at:

<http://www.huronuc.ca/CurrentStudents/StudentLifeandSupportServices/StudentDiscipline>

Technology

It is not appropriate to use technology (such as, but not limited to, laptops, PDAs, cell phones) in the classroom for non-classroom activities. Such activity is disruptive and is distracting to other students and to the instructor, and can inhibit learning. Students are expected to respect the classroom environment and to refrain from inappropriate use of technology and other electronic devices in class.

Academic Accommodation for Medical/Non-Medical Grounds

For UWO Policy on Accommodation for Medical Illness and a downloadable SMC see:

Students seeking academic accommodation on medical grounds for any missed tests, exams, participation components and/or assignments worth 10% or more of their final grade must apply to the Academic Counselling office of their home Faculty and provide documentation. Academic accommodation will be determined by the Dean's Office in consultation with the instructor.

For non-medical grounds or for medical grounds when work represents less than 10% of the overall grade for the course, students seeking academic accommodation must apply to the Academic Counselling office of their home Faculty and provide documentation. Academic accommodation will be determined by the Dean's Office in consultation with the instructor.

Statement on Academic Offences

Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, at the following Web site:

http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf

Statement on Academic Integrity

The International Centre for Academic Integrity defines academic integrity as "a commitment, even in the face of adversity, to five fundamental values: honesty, trust, fairness, respect, and responsibility. From these values flow principles of behaviour that enable academic communities to translate ideals to action." (CAI Fundamental Values Project, 1999).

A lack of academic integrity is indicated by such behaviours as the following:

- Cheating on tests;
- Fraudulent submissions online;
- Plagiarism in papers submitted (including failure to cite and piecing together unattributed sources);
- Unauthorized resubmission of course work to a different course;
- Helping someone else cheat;
- Unauthorized collaboration;
- Fabrication of results or sources;
- Purchasing work and representing it as one's own.

Academic Integrity: Importance and Impact

Being at university means engaging with a variety of communities in the pursuit and sharing of knowledge and understanding in ways that are clear, respectful, efficient, and productive. University communities have established norms of academic integrity to ensure responsible, honest, and ethical behavior in the academic work of the university, which is best done when sources of ideas are properly and fully acknowledged and when responsibility for ideas is fully and accurately represented.

In the academic sphere, unacknowledged use of another's work or ideas is not only an offence against the community of scholars and an obstacle to academic productivity. It may also be understood as fraud and may constitute an infringement of legal copyright.

A university is a place for fulfilling one's potential and challenging oneself, and this means rising to challenges rather than finding ways around them. The achievements in an individual's university studies can only be fairly evaluated quantitatively through true and honest representation of the actual learning done by the student. Equity in assessment for all students is ensured through fair representation of the efforts by each.

Acting with integrity at university constitutes a good set of practices for maintaining integrity in later life. Offences against academic integrity are therefore taken very seriously as part of the university's work in preparing students to serve, lead, and innovate in the world at large.

A university degree is a significant investment of an individual's, and the public's, time, energies, and resources in the future, and habits of academic integrity protect that investment by preserving the university's reputation and ensuring public confidence in higher education.

Students found guilty of plagiarism will suffer consequences ranging from a grade reduction to failure in the course to expulsion from the university. In addition, a formal letter documenting the offence will be filed in the Dean's Office, and this record of the offence will be retained in the Dean's Office for the duration of the student's academic career at Huron University College.

All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com.

Computer-marked multiple-choice tests and/or exams may be subject to submission for similarity review by software that will check for unusual coincidences in answer patterns that may indicate cheating.

Personal Response Systems ("clickers") may be used in some classes. If clickers are to be used in a class, it is the responsibility of the student to ensure that the device is activated and functional. Students must see their instructor if they have any concerns about whether the clicker is malfunctioning. Students must use only their own clicker. If clicker records are used to compute a portion of the course grade:

- the use of somebody else's clicker in class constitutes a scholastic offence,
- the possession of a clicker belonging to another student will be interpreted as an attempt to commit a scholastic offence.

Policy on Special Needs

Students who require special accommodation for tests and/or other course components must make the appropriate arrangements with the Student Development Centre (SDC). Further details concerning policies and procedures may be found at:

http://www.sdc.uwo.ca/ssd/?requesting_acc

Attendance Regulations for Examinations

A student is entitled to be examined in courses in which registration is maintained, subject to the following limitations:

- 1) A student may be debarred from writing the final examination for failure to maintain satisfactory academic standing throughout the year.
- 2) Any student who, in the opinion of the instructor, is absent too frequently from class or laboratory periods in any course will be reported to the Dean of the Faculty offering the course (after due warning has been given). On the recommendation of the Department concerned, and with the permission of the Dean of that Faculty, the student will be debarred from taking the regular examination in the course. The Dean of the Faculty offering the course will communicate that decision to the Dean of the Faculty of registration.
