

Syllabus of Weekly Readings for PHIL031F
“Right and Wrong”
Huron University College
Fall, 2007

NOTICE: This syllabus is subject to change – students are expected to attend classes and make use of the electronic resources available to them to keep apprised of developments in the curriculum of this course.

September 6 th - Week One:	Introduction to Course
September 10 th – Week Two:	Plato of Athens
September 17 th – Week Three:	Plato of Athens
September 24 th – Week Four:	Epicurus
October 1 st – Week Five:	Thomas Hobbes
October 8 th – Week Six:	Thomas Hobbes
October 15 th – Week Seven:	Immanuel Kant
October 22 nd – Week Eight:	John Stuart Mill
October 29 th – Week Nine:	Dostoevsky
November 5 th – Week Ten:	Rawls
November 12 th – Week Eleven:	Simon
November 19 th – Week Twelve:	Lehman
November 26 th – Week Thirteen:	Benedict and Rachels
December 3 rd – Week Fourteen:	No new readings – review for the midyear exam

Wednesday, December 5th is the last day of classes for the first term.

END.